BERNARD TAYLOR FOR CONGRESS RAISES $562,952.75 IN Q2 AS VOTERS INVEST IN A NEW VOICE FOR FLORIDA'S 21ST DISTRICT

More than 25,000 individual contributions signal growing grassroots support for new leadership in Florida's Treasure Coast

PORT ST. LUCIE, FL (JULY 2, 2026) — Bernard Taylor, Democratic candidate for U.S. Representative in Florida's 21st Congressional District, announced that his campaign raised $562,952.75 in Q2, the second fundraising quarter of the year covering April, May, and June 2026. The campaign received 25,598 individual contributions during the quarter, with an average donation of just $21.99.

The campaign's Q2 fundraising reflects broad-based support from everyday people rather than reliance on large-dollar donors. More than 93% of contributions were made via mobile devices, while 41.1% of donors used ActBlue Express, underscoring the campaign's strong digital engagement and growing grassroots momentum.

"I'm humbled by the incredible support we've received from thousands of people who believe it's time for new leadership in Washington," said Bernard Taylor, who also made it clear that his campaign does not accept donations from special interests or corporate PACs (Political Action Committees). "These contributions are coming from working families, retirees, veterans, teachers, first responders, and neighbors who want a representative who understands their challenges and will fight for them every day."

Taylor, a fourth-generation Floridian, EMT/Paramedic, husband, father, and community advocate, is running on a platform focused on affordable healthcare, stronger education, economic growth, affordable housing, clean water, and leadership that puts people over politics.

As a first responder, Taylor has seen firsthand how rising costs, limited access to healthcare, and economic pressure impact families across Florida. His campaign centers on bringing real-world experience to Washington and advocating for residents who feel ignored by career politicians and special interests.

The Q2 numbers send a clear message. Voters are ready for a representative who is accountable to people, not to corporate PACs or political insiders. Taylor is hopeful that Q3, which covers July, August, and September 2026, will be equally strong or even greater as the campaign continues to organize, engage voters, and build momentum across Florida's 21st District.

“This campaign belongs to the people of District 21 and to everyone who believes government should serve everyday people again,” Taylor added. “Every contribution helps us reach voters, strengthen our organizing efforts, and build the kind of campaign that can bring real change to Washington. We are grateful for what we accomplished in Q2, and we are looking forward to an even stronger Q3.”
